Orna Rosenblum

Bronze, 45 × 65 cm, 2015

Orna Rosenblum was born in Binyamina, Israel, and now lives in Givatayim. She began her professional career as a sculptor in 2006 after a 30 year career in the banking industry. Orna uses clay and wax to sculpt and then pours her sculptures into bronze. She also creates sculptures from netting.

Orna's works emphasize and empower the female body and provide a unique perspective to life and moments in time. With her sculptures, Orna brings to light dynamic body gestures and faces full of inspiration that connect and communicate with the observers. They open a door to a world of movement and events around the subject of the sculpture that sparks the imagination of the viewers. Her inspiration for the sculptures comes while observing the figures in motion and the dynamic flow of body and expression of thoughts.

Thoughts was inspired by a girl who is engaged in many different thoughts about the essence of life, which characterizes adolescence, but who looks optimistically forward to the future.

She is a member of the Israeli Sculpture & Painters Association.
